DEMOCRATS IN A TIGHT PLACE

The Democratic managers in New Hampshire hoped by their changes to elect the Republicans out of their fifth ward where they have put their selves and their party in a tight place At the State election the vote to elect a Governor by the people but the Republicans carried both branches of the Legislature by small majorities The result was no sooner ascertained than the Democratic leaders under the direction of their Washington Bigwheels who came to assume control undertook to elect United States Senator on the expiration of the term of Hon Natt Head for which purpose General Arthur Devens who is a former member of Congress and returned was re-elected at the last election The plea in the case of Mr Head was that his name is Nathaniel and that votes for Nat Head should be thrown out The meeting of the Democratic caucus was a stormy one In the case of Devens the Republicans claim that he is ineligible and the Constitution Decides a Prohibitionist in favor of Devens but that he accepted an office in violation of the clause of the Constitution which provides that no person holding an office under the United States shall be a member of Congress Devens was appointed Judge of the United States District Court for Massachusetts and resigned his seat in Congress to accept the office Devens is a Republican and the Democrats claim that he is ineligible and that the Senate should so declare and throw out the Democratic Senator Jones Democratic Senator Bogy of Missouri and Senator Stevenson of Illinois are also claimed to be ineligible for the same reason Senator Bogy was appointed Collector of Internal Revenue for St Louis and Stevenson was appointed Assistant Treasurer of the United States at Chicago Senator Jones is a member of the Nevada State Legislature and Senator Hamlin is a Commissioner of Public Works in New York City Senator Bogy has resigned his office and Senator Hamlin is said to be about to resign his office and Senator Jones is said to be considering the question of resigning his seat in the Senate The Democrats claim that if Devens is declared ineligible the Governor of Massachusetts will appoint a Democrat to his place and that the Legislature of Massachusetts will then elect a Democrat to the Senate in place of Devens The Republicans claim that if Devens is declared ineligible the Governor will appoint a Republican to his place and that the Legislature will then elect a Republican to the Senate in place of Devens The Democrats hope by this means to secure the election of a Democrat to the Senate in place of Devens and thus secure a majority in the Senate

Another Blow at the Whiskey Ring Foreshadowed.

Secretary Bristow and those operating with him are not communative in regard to the probable evidence that another blow is to be struck within the ensuing forty-eight hours, the force of which will be felt in the East and in Kentucky. To-day Secretary Bristow called on the Attorney-General and afterwards on the President, both visits having significance with regard to past and future operations. Subsequently the Secretary was closely closeted with the newly-appointed Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Mr. Pratt, and received damaging incriminations against the ring, submitted to them by Revenue Agent Garagan. Within the past few days Mr. Bristow has received communications from eastern cities indicating to him that he has hitherto not broken the crust of the formidable ring which he is trying to pull down. Officers have been made contingent on his cooperation with those making the clue by to supply evidence which will involve a number hereto fore, regarded as respectable houses in Philadelphia, New York, Baltimore, Pittsburg and elsewhere. The Secretary has followed the secret service from any further active participation in the raids, and has intrusted to Mr. Pratt the new Revenue Commissioner the duty of arranging for further seizures. It is expected that prominent Internal Revenue changes will soon be made in the West.

NEW HAMPSHIRE

Meeting of the Governor and Council—The Contested Election Cases.

CONCORD, May 17. In accordance with the adjournment on Thursday last, the Governor and Council met their at 3 o'clock. At the previous meeting the questions that had arisen over the votes in the senatorial districts, Nos. 2 and 4, were discussed, and no fair hearing took place. It was voted to refer the question to the Judges of the Superior Court for their opinions provided they could be obtained before 3 P. M., to-day, otherwise the Governor should get such advice as circumstances would admit.

The Democratic Candidates Declared Elected.

Letters were produced showing that the Chief Justice had told the Governor that it was impracticable to get a decision at the date fixed, and that the other Judges had not been consulted. Lowell presented a long protest against the action of the Governor and Council in referring to the returned copies of the records of the votes for Senators, counted and declared by the moderators in senatorial districts, Nos. 2 and 4. A vote was finally taken on the resolutions submitted at the previous meeting, to the effect that the votes last for Neal Head and other ineligible candidates in the 2d district, be thrown out, and that James Priest, the Democratic candidate, having received a majority of the legal votes, be declared elected, and that the votes for Arthur Deering and the other ineligible candidates in the 4th district be thrown out and that John Proctor, the Democratic candidate, be declared elected, as having received also a majority of the legal votes cast.

It was carried probably by a party vote of four to one, though the yeas and nays were not taken, certificates having probably been issued to the Senators elect. There is considerable excitement over the matter, the Republicans expressing much indignation at the action of the Governor and Council, while the Democrats are correspondingly jubilant. There will doubtless be a great effort made by the Republicans to unseat Priest and Proctor.

HAVERHILL, May 17. The excitement in Groveland in regard to the missing Eben P. Jewell is intense. Large crowds were out hunting for him Saturday. Spofford's mill-pond was drawn off Saturday. Sunday a Lawrence Clairvoyant was consulted who said they would find him in the woods about a mile from the house, hanging by the neck with his knees touching the ground. Search was accordingly made which proved unavailing. He was in the real estate business and eminently respected. He is supposed to have been pecuniarily embarrassed.

THE DECLINE IN THE PRICE OF DRY GOODS. Attention is now generally directed to the condition of the wholesale markets. In New York a class of prints sold this week for six and one-fourth cents per yard that during the war was disposed of at forty-five cents, and dry goods that sold in war time for over fifty cents a yard now offered at nine. It is said that prints have fallen to bring within two cents per yard the cost of manufacture. In silks the Silk Growers' Association points out that within two years the shrinkage in the value of raw silk has ruled from thirty to forty-five per cent. The general feeling is however that bottom prices have at last been reached.

A bill just introduced in the Connecticut Legislature provides that the State Comptroller shall contract for tickets on railways for every member of the Legislature to and from the Capital at his home station, at the lowest regular rates of the several companies, the whole expense to be borne by the State.

THE POLICE STATION. Seven "drunks" in the lock-up last night, everyone "old full." Among these was one woman who beguiled the still hours of the night with operatic selections. The road is furnished with elegant new cars from the factory of Geo. F. Patten's Sons, of Bath, and connects with the fine steamers of the Norwich Line, arriving at New York at 6 A. M. This has been opened about one week and is securing a large patronage. Messrs. Pearl & Webb, 24 West Market Square, have the sale of tickets in Bangor.

HOW TEA CAME ABOUT. The first tea drank in Maine was made on Cutts' Island, Kittery, about one hundred and fifty years ago. A daughter of Major Cutts was returning from school in Massachusetts with a daughter of Governor Vaughan, a severe storm detained her at the Governor's house at Portsmouth, several days, and at the Governor's table she was first offered tea. The young lady followed Miss Vaughan's example, and, adding sugar and cream, carried it to her lips. She afterwards purchased a pound of tea for a guinea, sent to Boston for cups and saucers, and thus introduced the first tea-set into Maine.—[Argus.]

CALAIS, May 17.

FORENOON.

Rev. W. T. Jewell led the prayer meeting at 8 o'clock. At 8 o'clock, Rev. H. S. Springer had charge of a social meeting of unusual interest; about 30 persons took a part in its exercises.

The Bishop gave out the hymn:

"Oh for a heart to praise my God."

Prayer by Rev. W. L. Brown. The minutes were read and approved.

Rev. E. Davies, was located at his own request. A resolution recommending him as an Evangelist was passed.

The trustees at Rockport were authorized to sell the Parsonage and use the funds for another. The trustees of Georgetown were granted the same privilege.

The following were elected to local Deacon's orders: Samuel Bickmore, Edmund H. Tunicliff.

Dr. Cogshall, Rev. Joseph Scott and Rev. Dr. Upham, of the N. E. Conference, were introduced.

Admitted on trial: Samuel D. Bailey, Wm. B. Jackson, Jesse R. Baker, Edmund H. Tunicliff, (Albert F. Wood laid over,) Charles Rogers.

Four Chinamen having been recommended by one of the Quarterly Conferences in Chi m, were admitted on trial. Their names are Wong Kin Mi, Ngwoi Ki Long, Ting Ching Kiong, Ngro Ing Siong.

Rev. J. B. Gould's relation was continued as supernumerary. Mr. Gould is a member of this Conference and United States Consul to Birmingham, England.

A resolution in response to the letter from the Baptist church in Hartland was read and adopted. The Conference do not have any control of union houses of worship, but earnestly recommend whatever pertains to peace and harmony in the entire church.

The committee on the Bible cause reported and Rev. Mr. Gilbert, of Hartford, Conn., New England agent of the American Bible Society, addressed the Conference. He reported the work of a Mr Brown in New Hampshire, who has spent twenty-seven years in repeated invasions of that state. There has, however, been a large falling off in the society this year. About $40,000 less in legacies, and $26,000 less in the ordinary collections. Two societies alone, viz.: the British and Foreign Bible Society, beginning in 1804, and the American Bible Society started in 1816, have issued more than one hundred millions of Bibles and Testaments. The report was adopted.

Rev. George Forsyth reported for the committee on education. Rev Dr. Upham, of Boston, urged the importance of the work of the New England Educational Society, which assists young men in preparing for the ministry. Report adopted.

On motion of C. A. Plummer voted that the visitors to our Seminary at Bucksport hold their position until the close of the academic year.

Report on temperance present day Rev. W. B. Eldridge. Tract on Sunday school by G. N. Eldredge. Freedmen's aid, by P. Higgins. Collection at the anniversary $140.

An address was made by the Bishop. He saw in Jacksonville, Fla., a colored man whose master owned a large plantation, but could not write. The servant did his business. Now the colored man is a merchant and his daughter is educating the children of his former master.

Rev. Dr. Coggshall addressed the Conference. His son married a creole in New Orleans; several of his children are in the South. From these circumstances as well as his own observation, he had a somewhat extensive knowledge of the work of this society. He urged the preachers to aid in its work, by all means.

Voted to raise next year for missions, $3000, for church extension, $200, for freedmen's aid, $500.

J. P. Magee, Esq., of Boston, gave a rousing address on the Sunday school Union.

Report of claims on the Conference funds:

Amount needed,	$4,000.
Receipts from disbarred land,	$30 00
" " Trustees,	111 00
" " Preachers' aid,	736 25
Sabbath collections,	45 75
	$923 00

This was divided among the worn out preachers, widows and orphans.

Committee to nominate committee for next year—George Pratt, W. L. Brown, George R. Palmer.

Officers of the Conference, Ladies' and Pastors' Christian Union were elected, viz.: Rev. W. Brown, President, with six Vice-Presidents; Mrs. Stover, of Bucksport, Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. J. N. Marsh, Recording Secretary; Rev. G. G. Winslow, Treasurer.

AFTERNOON.

An educational meeting was held at 2 o'clock. Rev. Henry Forsyth represented the condition of the East Maine Conference Seminary at Bucksport. Dr. Allen followed with a short but powerful argument for the thorough education of the entire man, head and heart. Rev. Dr. Tiffany spoke nearly an hour on the same subject.

At 4 o'clock there was a short business session, to read the records and close some unfinished business.

FIFTH DAY.

Sunday was a great day in Calais. Rev. George Pratt lead the love feast at 9 o'clock. It was an hour of great power. At 10 o'clock Bishop Haven preached a rousing sermon from "Preach the preaching I bid thee," after which he ordained the deacons, namely,

G. N. Eldridge, M. D. Miller, Theodore Guerish, B. C. Wentworth, Samuel Bickmore, E. H. Tunicliff.

Rev. Dr. Upham preached at 2 o'clock from, "Great is the Mystery of Godliness." Henry H. Clark, Charles E. Libby, J. A. J. Rich and W. H. Williams were ordained Elders.

At the Missionary Anniversary in the evening, Drs. Teft, Scott and Upham were the speakers.

Most of the churches in Calais, St. Stephen and Milltown were supplied by members of the Conference.

SIXTH AND LAST DAY.

Monday morning the Conference met at 8 o'clock for its closing session. Prayer by Rev. O. G. Winslow. Apportioned $250, to be raised by the churches to pay the expenses of delegates to the General Conference.

Examining Committees: First Year, M. D. Mathews, J. W. Day, W. H. Morse; Second Year, D. M. True, William Rond, L. L. Hanscom; Third Year, W. W. Marsh, W. L. Brown; Fourth Year, C. Stone, C. B. Dunn, E. B. Byrd.

To Examine Candidates for Admission to Conference—A. Church, J. A. Morelen, R. S. Dixon.

To Examine Local Preachers for Deacon's Orders—W. M. Rowe, R. T. Stilson, J. A. Plummer.

To Examine Local Preachers for Elders Orders, A. S. Townsend, E. H. Eaton, John Morse.

To Prepare the Memorial Sermon—C. B. Dunn, Alonzo Gould, O. G. Winslow.

To Prepare the Obituary Sermons—Cornelius Stone, D. D., Alfred Cate, C. A. Plummer.

A vote of thanks to the Bishop and Secretaries was unanimously passed.

No Conference has ever been better entertained, the hospitable families in Calais and St. Stephen, vying with each other to make our stay with them pleasant, and very successful that each preacher believed he had the very best house.

The records were read up, and the Bishop gave a parting address. Probably 10,000 Methodist ministers this year receive their appointment, and 10,000 churches receive their pastors with but very little friction.

After reading a part of John, xvii. singing the hymn "And let our bodies part," and prayer by C. Stone, D. D., the Bishop read the appointments, which was the closing business of the session:

Entertainments.

THE TRIALS AT CITY HALL.

On last evening the first dramatic entertainment under the auspices of the Boys' Temperance Club was given at City Hall. The programme was prepared with a double purpose of inculcating good morals and affording entertainment at the same time. The result showed what patient care the managers had given to the subject, and the thoroughly conscientious manner in which the rehearsals have been conducted.

The entertainment opened with the drama entitled "Fruits of the Wine-Cup," which proves a lively dramatic interest, teaching temperance in a series of vivid pictures, the truthfulness of which is beyond dispute. The several tableaux were especially effective, and the entire presentation was given smoothly. The more strongly drawn characters were those of the Messrs. Gowen, Woodgerson, Clergue and Daley. As Speculation, Mr. Woodgerson's make-up was capital, and his interpretation of the run-besotted loafer of intellect naturally gentlemanly, made a decided hit. The cast of the drama was as follows:

Mr. Hamilton, ... L. Frank Gowen
Speculation, ... John L. Woodgerson
Christopher Strap, ... Geo. W. Clergue
Bally, ... F. J. B. Fling
Charlie Bally, ... Walter McDonald
Gentleman Jack, ... F. J. B. Fling
Constable, ... J. M. Daley
Kate, ... Ella Dyer
Mary, ... Cora Neikley
Nurse, ... Mrs. Wm. Wooster
Flora, ... Minnie Pearson

While the drama served a valuable purpose, being eminently appropriate for presentation by a temperance organization, and brought out in a manner highly creditable to all who participated, the farce of "A Pleasant Neighbor" furnished an agreeable termination to the evening's performance. The principal male character, that of Christopher Strap, was given in Mr. Woodgerson's best vein of humor in look, tone and action; while Miss Snow, as Nancy Strap, by the naturalness of her acting, combined with a full appreciation of the artistic points involved, served to literally the most excellent impression created by her previous appearance. The characters assumed by Miss Davenport, Mr. Gowen and Mr. Clergue furnished admirable support to the two central figures, and altogether the farce alone was well worth the admission price. It was cast as follows:

Christopher Strap, ... John L. Woodgerson
Nancy Strap, ... Miss Mary E. Snow
Sir George Howard, ... L. Frank Gowen
Thomas, ... Geo. W. Clergue
Lady Howard, ... Miss Nellie Davenport

The music was furnished by the Orchestra under direction of Mr. W. R. McQuown, and formed an agreeable addition to the stage attractions.

The same programme will be presented at City Hall to-night, tickets to all parts of the house being reduced to twenty-five cents. The excellence of the entertainment, no less than the object for which it is given, should call out a large audience.

WILSON'S OWL EYES OUT AGAIN. The friends of persons who have been relieved from confirmed consumption by the use of this original preparation, and the grateful parties themselves, have by recommending it and acknowledging its wonderful efficacy, given the article a vast popularity in New England. The Cod Liver Oil is in this compound robbed of its unpleasant taste, and is rendered doubly effective in being coupled with the lime, which is itself a restorative principle, supplying nature with just the agents and assistance required to heal and reform the diseased lungs. A. B. Wilson, Boston, is the proprietor. Sold by all druggists.

This invaluable preparation has attained a wide-spreading popularity from the extraordinary triumphs it has achieved over kidney, bladder and glandular diseases, whether chronic or otherwise, gravel, diabetes, errors of youth, excesses, and all complaints of the urino-genital organs in either sex speedily disappear by its use.

Within the whole range of materia and medicinal medicines known, none is entitled to more consideration than the Peruvian Syrup. In all cases of enfeebled or debilitated constitution it is the very remedy needed. The most positive proof of this can be adduced.

WATCHING AND WAITING.

BY EDWIN M. BOURNET.

From my upper window, at the close of day,
Sadly watching I stand on their pathway alway,
Sadly, wearily thinking of the joy and glee
When one came, my babies, home to you and me!

In the dusk, with faces close against the pane,
Peered we through the starlight, snow, or summer rain,
Happy hearts and faces watching through the gloom
For the blessed footstep that was sure to come.

Hark! I hear its echo, babies, ring once more!
Hear the latch key turning in the opening door!
From my knee you're spring, fairies in the gloom,
While Iood with radiance all the darkened room.

Swift you fly to meet him, open wide the door,
Clearly are we gathered to his heart once more,
To the kiss and clasping great your joy to glee,
But the warmest, babies, always was for me!

But my dream fading, all the memory sweet,
While I watch the echo still of vanish feet,
But the night summer starlight of the dark wintry rain,
Never, O my babies, will to come again!

We are now the watchers in the dusk and gloom,
He the one that's waiting in the happy home,
Yet in his upper window, though we may not see,
He's watching, O my babies, to welcome you and me.

GENERAL SHERMAN.

The publication of the memoirs of a man who has played such a part in the history of his country as Gen. William T. Sherman, cannot but be a matter of general interest. We are glad that it takes place in his lifetime. When he was travelling in Egypt a few years ago, somebody asked him if he had been to see a famous tomb. No, he replied, he meant to keep out of his own tomb as long as possible, and he didn't think it was exactly respectful to be prying into other people's tombs. The answer of minds us that we might have had to wait some time for the General's memoirs, if they had been postponed till his demise—which cannot be too far off—and it also reminds us that he is one of the few eminent public men whose sayings have a saliency and originality corresponding to their general intellectual rank. This gives a peculiar relative to the records of his life, for it shows us, to be dealing with a person as vital as a personage, and not embodied and sometimes blighted by a machine, as well as a great public force. In the latter capacity it will be remembered of the unemployed Gen. Grant in the field, in the former he answered the latter sophistical complaints and handsomely rebuked them up with the pen.

We can only glance at some of the significant points in Gen. Sherman's career. He heard Daniel Webster on the floor of the Senate, after the death of Gen. Taylor, and quoted his speech (heavy in the exordium) having "made the circuit of Europe, having attracted the direct attention of nearly all the crowned heads and statesmen of the world." The country of the war found him, as it well known, a Professor at a Military Academy in Louisiana, and he reorganized his duty at once. On his way North he met an old army friend who had taken service in the rebel movement. He asked him if he did not feel sorry. No, not at all. The thing was inevitable, secession was a complete success, there would be no war, but the two Governments would settle all matters of business on a friendly spirit, as each would go on in its allotted sphere without mutual confusion. When he got to Washington he was so oddly shocked because he did not find out just appreciation of the crisis, and he referred in disgust to Olde. He was soon, however, engaged to take a Colonelcy in the army.

He was in the battle of Bull Run (which he calls "one of the best planned battles of the war, but one of the worst fought"). After the battle, Lincoln came down to visit the troops, and, says Gen. Sherman "He stood up in the carriage and made one of the heatest, best and most telling addresses I ever listened to, referring to our late disaster at Bull Run, the high duties that still devolved on us, and the brighter days yet to come. At one or two points the soldiers began to cheer, but he promptly checked them, saying, 'Don't cheer, boys. I confess I rather like a cheer myself, but Col. Sherman here says it is not military, and I guess we had better defer to his opinion.' No finer sketch could be given of the good President. Sherman's references to Grant are manly and kindly. He says that the latter was so depressed at being unjustly cashiered from Fort Donelson, that he had guide the preparations to go home, but was induced to stay by Sherman, who recalled his own exposure to the charge of being crazy at Bull Run. He also declares that the Vicksburg campaign was wholly Grant's in origin, maturity and execution, as he was conversant with all its stages. The march to the sea he proves to have been lessons in conception, and it is rather a curious illustration of the frequent difference between professional and public opinion that Sherman says "Were I to express an opinion of the relative importance of the march to the sea, and of that from Savannah northward, I would place the former at one and the latter at the maximum."

With regard to such what are thought to be mistakes in the history of military operations or high rules, Gen. Sherman's narrative affords the most valuable light. To some of these changes we may note hereafter, but for the present we confine ourselves to a work of such peculiar interest and interest or gratitude that Gen. Sherman and his darkeners are still living same year which has crowned all his fellows with such brilliant success.—Boston Herald.

Important considerations for the insuring public are the expense of a life policy depends mainly upon the expense of management, the protection of assets, all the gains and profits on policies lapsed or surrendered to policy holders, and the interest earned on assets.

The Ætna offers every desirable form of policy, and will aid your family and creditors, securing a vesting option on request. Join the Ætna before insuring your life.
